

PC Care Service Agreement

1. General. PC Care service is a personal, non-commercial, residential, technical assistance service that offers support for your personal computer operating system, and certain hardware and software issues as further described in Section 4 below (the "Service"). The Service is provided to you by Bell Canada directly or through its third party service providers for the Service Period (as defined in Section 14) until you give Bell Canada notice of termination in accordance with Section 14 or until Bell Canada terminates this Agreement as permitted herein (the "Term"). In order to purchase the Service, you must be a Bell Internet access service subscriber. "You" and "your" means you and every person who uses the Service through your Account (defined below).

By accessing and using the Service or otherwise agreeing to be bound by these terms and conditions, you acknowledge that you have read, understand and agree to be bound by this agreement and any other additional terms, policies and practices that are displayed to you or to which you may be directed in connection with the Service, each as amended by Bell Canada, all to the extent permitted by applicable law (collectively, "Agreement").

2. Registration/Account/Passwords. Subject to Bell Canada's acceptance of your registration for the Service and your compliance with this Agreement, Bell Canada will establish one account in your name on servers made available by Bell Canada or its third party service providers ("Account"). You agree to provide accurate and current information about yourself when registering for the Service and to promptly update such information as necessary to ensure that it is kept accurate and current. You are solely responsible for: (a) maintaining the confidentiality of any password(s) or other Account identifiers that you choose or that are assigned to you as a result of registration for the Service; and (b) any and all activities or omissions that occur under such password(s) or identifiers on your Account whether through your actions (or inactions) or those of one or more persons utilizing your Account. You further agree to notify Bell Canada of any unauthorized use of your password(s) or your Account. Bell Canada shall not be responsible or liable, directly or indirectly, in any way for any loss or damage of any kind incurred as a result of, or in connection with, your failure to comply with this Section 2, the improper use of your password, any Account identifiers, Account or improper access to your Account by third parties with or without the use of your password(s), any Account identifiers, and whether or not authorized.

3. Access. You acknowledge and agree that in order to provide the Service to you Bell Canada or its third party service providers (including third party service providers who may be located outside of Canada) will access, take control of and make changes to your personal computer and/or software by remote control, including the installation and where applicable, de-installation, of certain software and you hereby consent to such actions.

4. The Service. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, Bell Canada will attempt to provide you with the Service, which may include any or all of the following features on an "as available" basis, as determined by Bell Canada: (a) online chat access with live expert advisors; (b) expert advisor screen share learning environment; (c) assistance in the areas of troubleshooting, installation, and configuration of your personal computer, common software, and other peripherals such as your printer, scanner and monitor equipment; (d) email transcript of your chat session; (e) over the phone technical support; and (f) Customer Equipment on-site residential or depot support/repair (the "Customer Equipment Support").

The Service will not and is not intended to substitute general technical support available to you from Bell Canada at 310-SURF (310-7873), or the advanced support that may be available from the manufacturer or supplier of your hardware and software.

5. Customer Equipment; Customer Equipment Support; Limits for Customer Equipment Support. You will be required to register one of and no more than one of your personal computer or laptop that you wish to associate with your Account ("Customer Equipment"). Any Customer Equipment Support will only be available on day thirty one (31) after your order for the Service has been confirmed and your Account has been established. When requesting Customer Equipment Support you will be required to register your Customer Equipment unless you have already registered it when your Account was established. The Customer Equipment must be in good working condition prior to registration. Any faults detected during the initial registration of the Customer Equipment will be recorded as a pre-existing defect. You must follow the instructions that are set out in the owner's manual for proper use, care and maintenance of your Customer Equipment. Failure to follow the manufacturer's maintenance and service guidelines may result in the denial of coverage of the Customer Equipment. Customer Equipment owned by anyone other than you may not be registered by you. If you request the Customer Equipment Support as set out in Section 6 below, you will be entitled to $500 in total retail value for a 12-month period commencing with the date you first request such Customer Equipment Support. If you use the entire $500 during such 12 month period, you will not be entitled to use Customer Equipment Support until the anniversary date. If you do not use the $500 during such 12 month period, you will lose any such unused amounts and you will not be allowed to carry them over to the next 12 month period. The retail value of any repair shall be equal to the market value of parts and labour used, as determined solely by Bell Canada.

6. If Your Customer Equipment Needs Service. If you require coaching and expert advice on the use of your computer, software, or have a general technology based inquiry, you may receive assistance by going to www.bell.ca/bellpccare. In the event the Customer Equipment malfunctions, your first level of specialized repair support is to access Bell Canada's PC Care support line by calling 310-SURF (310-7873). If the issue is not resolved, and a Bell Canada customer service representative determines that you have a hardware failure; provided it is day thirty one (31) after your order for the Service has been confirmed and your Account has been established, you may file a claim for the Customer Equipment Support. Please note that if you request the Customer Equipment Support during the manufacturer's warranty coverage period, your manufacturer's warranty may be voided. It is your responsibility to review the terms and conditions of the manufacturer's warranty or contact your manufacturer directly prior to requesting the Customer Equipment Support from Bell Canada. Neither Bell Canada nor any of its third party service providers will be responsible or liable for any losses or damages whatsoever for your failure to adhere to the manufacturer's warranty terms and conditions or for any voided manufacturer's warranty. If you request the Customer Equipment Support, you will be required to provide a valid credit card for the collection of the non-refundable service order charge of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) ("Service Order Charge"), which Bell Canada shall charge and you agree to pay. At Bell Canada's option, repairs of the desktop computer will be performed on-site or shipped to a depot facility. Laptop computers will be required to be shipped to a depot facility of Bell Canada's choice. For depot repair, Bell Canada will provide you with a pre-paid shipping container. The Customer Equipment Support will be available Monday through Friday during regular business hours and will be provided by an authorized third party service provider. Technological advances may result in replacement components of the Customer Equipment with a lower selling price than the original components. Bell Canada makes no representation that any replacement component will be identical or substantially identical to any component submitted for repair or replacement. If Bell Canada determines in its sole discretion that to repair the Customer Equipment or to replace any component of the Customer Equipment may exceed the $500 limit specified in Section 5 above, Bell Canada or its authorised representative will only proceed with any such repairs and/or replacement if authorised so by you, in which case you will be required to provide a valid credit card for the collection of the amounts above the $500 limit. You agree that Bell Canada shall charge you any such amounts and you agree to pay any such amounts. Should you choose not to proceed with repairs of the Customer Equipment or replacement of any components of the Customer Equipment, Bell Canada, if the Customer Equipment was shipped to a depot, will ship the Customer Equipment back to your premises. Bell Canada will not repair any Customer Equipment or replace any components of the Customer Equipment if it determines in its sole discretion that the Customer Equipment or any component cannot be repaired/replaced, in which case Bell Canada will ship the Customer Equipment back to your premises if the Customer Equipment was shipped to a depot for repair. You will be responsible for paying the Service Order Charge even if Bell Canada is not able to repair your Customer Equipment or replace any component of the Customer Equipment or you choose not to have your Customer Equipment repaired or any component replaced if repairs and/or replacement exceed the $500 limit. You may not bring your Customer Equipment to any other third party (other than to a manufacturer under the warranty as set out in section 6) for repairs or replacement of components of Customer Equipment unless otherwise authorised by Bell Canada. Bell Canada reserves the right in its sole discretion not to repair your Customer Equipment or replace any component of the Customer Equipment if it determines that you took the Customer Equipment to a third party.

7. Title, Risk of Loss, Damage or Theft. Risk of loss to, damage or theft of your Customer Equipment and to any component of the Customer Equipment that was replaced by Bell Canada shall remain with you at all times, whether Bell Canada repairs the Customer Equipment at your premises or you ship the Customer Equipment to a depot for repair. Title to the replacement component of the Customer Equipment will pass to you and title to the replaced component of the Customer Equipment will pass to Bell Canada upon shipment from Bell Canada to you or upon installation of the replacement component of the Customer Equipment at your premises by Bell Canada's authorised technician, as applicable.

8. Warranty. Bell Canada warrants that any replaced Customer Equipment component and Customer Equipment repair services provided to you will be free from material defects in material and workmanship for a period of ninety (90) days from the date the repair services completion ("Warranty"). The Warranty will apply only if Bell Canada's tests disclose that the alleged defect is due solely to defects in material or workmanship. The Warranty will not apply if your Customer Equipment has not been repaired or your Customer Equipment component has not been replaced by Bell Canada or its authorized contractor or your Service has been terminated for any reason or you are no longer a subscriber to the Service for any reason. You may not assign or transfer the Warranty. YOU ACKNOWLEDGE AND AGREE THAT BELL CANADA'S SOLE OBLIGATION AND YOUR SOLE REMEDY UNDER THE WARRANTY WITH RESPECT TO THE REPLACEMENT COMPONENT OF THE CUSTOMER EQUIPMENT OR REPAIR SERVICES, WILL BE LIMITED TO REPAIR OF YOUR CUSTOMER EQUIPMENT OR REPLACEMENT OF THE CUSTOMER EQUIPMENT COMPONENT WITH NEW, REBUILT, OR NON-ORIGINAL MANUFACTURER'S PARTS THAT PERFORM TO THE FACTORY SPECIFICATIONS OF THE ORIGINAL COMPONENT WITHIN THE WARRANTY PERIOD. To the extent that Bell Canada has to re-perform the repair services or replace the replacement component of the Customer Equipment, the Warranty will apply from the date the first repair services were completed.

any order for the Service described in either of (a) or (b) within ten (10) business days from the submission of your order for the Service. Once activated, the Service may be cancelled by you by calling Bell Canada at 310-SURF (310-7873).

Your subscription to the Service is on a month-to-month basis (the “Service Period”). If you cancel your Service, the termination will be effected thirty (30) days from the date of your notice of cancellation to Bell Canada. Your Account will be charged the regular Service Fees, if any, and other applicable fees and charges, plus all applicable taxes, for that 30-day termination period.

Bell Canada may terminate or suspend the Service and this Agreement at any time upon thirty (30) days prior notice to you or such longer period as may be required by applicable law. To the extent permitted by applicable law, Bell Canada may terminate, suspend or restrict the Service and your Account (without any reduction in your monthly Service Fees applicable to the Service) or terminate this Agreement, at any time without notice, if: (a) the operations or efficiency of the Service is impaired by the use of your Account or the Service; (b) any amount is past due from you to Bell Canada; or (c) there has been or is a breach of any term or condition of this Agreement by you or any other user.

The accrued rights and obligations under this Agreement that by their nature or as specified under the Agreement are intended to continue beyond the termination of this Agreement until exhausted or fulfilled, will survive the termination of this Agreement.

15. Minimum System Requirements and Your Equipment. It is your responsibility to ensure that your computer system meets the current minimum system requirements made available to you by Bell Canada and indicated at www.bell.ca/minreg, as being necessary to use the Service. From time to time, the minimum system requirements may change, and you will be duly notified of any such change in accordance with Section 16 of this Agreement. Accordingly, unless you update your computer equipment, it may cease to be adequate to access the Service. In such event, your sole remedy will be to terminate this Agreement, in accordance with Section 14 hereof.

16. Changes and Amendments. To the extent permitted by applicable law Bell Canada may at any time and from time to time amend or modify the Agreement or any part thereof or any fees, features or other aspects of the Service. To the extent required by applicable law, such notice shall set out the effective date of the amendment or modification, the revisions being made to the Agreement or any other related agreement, if applicable, and your remedy in connection with such amendment or change as set out in the next sentence. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as obligating you to accept receipt of the Service after any amendment or modification is made to the Service or the Agreement; however, your sole remedy in the event that you do not wish to accept such amendment or modification (and, if you reside in the province of Quebec, only where such amendment or change increases your obligations or reduces Bell Canada’s obligations) shall be to refuse the amendment or modification and cancel the Service (and terminate the Agreement) upon the payment of all outstanding fees or charges which may apply, except where such fees or charges are prohibited by applicable law, in which case such cancellation shall be without cost, penalty or cancellation indemnity. You agree to go to www.bell.ca/agreements periodically and to review this Agreement to be aware of any modifications. Should you continue to use the Service after such change is effective, to the extent permitted by applicable law, such use will be deemed to be your acceptance thereto and you expressly agree that no additional written agreement or express acknowledgement will be required to accept such change.

You agree that you cannot change this Agreement and, to the extent permitted by applicable law, that no customer service representative or sales representative of Bell Canada is authorized to vary the terms of this Agreement in any way, verbally or in writing, unless specifically approved in writing by Bell Canada.

You further acknowledge and understand that Bell Canada may perform maintenance on the Service from time to time without notice to you, and during such maintenance periods, some or all elements of the Service may not work properly or at all. To the extent permitted by applicable law, Bell Canada, its officers, employees, agents, third party service providers and contractors are not liable for any claim by you relating to a maintenance outage, regardless of how the maintenance outage was caused and whether it could have been avoided.
